DYING AMERICAN OFFICER STRANGLED HIS FOE TO DEATH

was no further indication that the enemy was preparing to renew his offensive on this front.

Two German observation balloons east of Montdidler were brought down yesterday by a French airplane.

An enemy observation balloon opposite Toul broke away late yesterday after its two occupants had parachuted from it, and it floated two kilometres inside our lines. Our aviators were called out, but by the time they reached the locality the balloon had risen to another air strata and floated back toward Germany. American airmen chased the craft twelve kilometres until it went up so high that it was impracticable to

A German airplane, bearing French markings, was discovered to-day flying over the lines northwest of Toul. American aviators tried to intercept him, but he made his escape. nits figures yet announced regarding this spring have been given to the Associated Press. Since the beginning of the offensive on March 21 hers have been 206 German divisions the western front, of which 128 actually have been engaged on the fomme and Armentieres salients.

The 208th German Division, which was one of those suffering most heavily, lost 70 per cent, of its effeetiveness. Seven other German divisions are known to have lost more than 50 per cent, and at least seven other divisions are named as having lost 40 to 50 per cent.

Only forty men to the company were left in the 119th Division after the fighting of March 22 and 23. The First Division was in similar straits after reaching Sailly-Laurette on March 28 and the 234th Division was weakened similarly on April 6. the lusses were not so large as to cause serious crippling of the effi-dency of the unit. While it is impossible to make from these figures any exact estimate of the total German losses it is evident that the enemy casualties have been exceedingly heavy. One evidence of this fact is that the Germans, after calling upon all available reserve de-pots in the western area, have already been compelled to draft into rippled divisions men drawn from Germany itself, including those of the 920 class. From this it may be con-duded that the demand for men in
